
Title: Unbinding Spell

Author:

Note: This spell cannot be turned and there is no
spell that
will rebind the person
once unbound. Their power will come back; their body will be free. I would not try to make a

spell to undo this; there is no spell which will achieve
this and people that tried
have been bound themselves as a result. It should also be noted that this spell does not

help those who become
bound as a result of
trying to break
it.

Needs:

Two White candles
Two Black candles

Take the person or item
that is bound and place
him or her on his or her back looking up. Place the two black candles at his feet

and the two whites at his head. Light them and then start
the spell.

I call on the gods and
goddesses of the old days
as well of those
of the new.
Break this spell that

they call a binding with your power.

Gods of light move
about this man or
woman's body.

Allow your power to
break the holds on him
or her.

Goddesses come down
and wake his or her body.

Allow the power that you have given this person to be woken.

I call on the East gate.

Break the binding spell
that was placed on this person.

Let it be removed for
good.

Do not allow a spell of binding be placed on he or she that is before
me.

I call on the element of the East, the element of
water,

to fill these
hands and move within
this body

to allow the walls
that hold him or her fall.

Unlock the binding that was placed on my friend

and awaken his or her power and body to never be locked again!

The power of both sides,
of the Light and Dark,

Your onus is broken and you are free once more.

As the day and night,
so shall you be of
both this day, and not just one.